BETHEL REPUBLICANS COMPLETE FUND RAISING

GOULD TO PRESENT "BRIGADOON" IN THE SPRING

Bingham Auditorium stage will be given its first maximum usage next spring when Gould Academy's music and dramatic departments combine under the direction of James Owen and Frank Vogt to present the sensational Broadway hit musical, "Brigadoon." Never before has there been an opportunity to attempt a program of such magnitude in the original form. With the excellent facilities offered by the new building, Gould is anxious to usher in a new era of theatrical production for the Bethel area.

HIGHWAY SAFETY COM. TO PLAN BUSY YEAR

The Maine Highway Safety Committee, conducting an annual self-appraisal, announced Tuesday it would unveil plans for an energetic program in 1964.

The program will be announced at the Augusta State Armory on Jan. 25 at the Committee's Tenth Annual Conference, according to Chairman Torben K. Andersen. Andersen's announcements will conclude an all-day session featuring Gov. John H. Reed; President Howard Pyle of the National Safety Council; Capt. William Gruber, chairman of the New England Regional Traffic Safety Council; and representatives of Maine youth, military and state departments.

Anderson said he would withhold all comment concerning the 1964 effort until he addresses the Conference. He urged all persons in Maine's future in traffic safety to attend.

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

Most of the town budget was presented to the Budget Committee last week, Jan. 15 and the remainder will be presented Wednesday, January 22. Also scheduled for this Budget Committee on the 22nd is the school budget. The town budget requests were down a small amount from last year. The small amount is in the range of a few thousand dollars so that a general reduction in taxes should not be anticipated.

There hasn't been very much snow to plow so far this winter but there have been several small storms that required sanding and salting. With the mid-winter rain the highway crew has been busy thawing catch basins and culverts. Several frozen culverts have caused the water to flow across the road and freezing leaving a very hazardous condition.

Anyone who can not get to the office during the regular office hours can call me at home and I will make out their registration in the evening. The regular office hours are 9:00 A. M. to 4:30 P. M. on Mon., Tues., Thurs., and Friday and from 9:00 A. M. until noon on Wed. and Saturday.

HASTINGS SEEKS OXFORD CO. ATTORNEY OFFICE

Peter Hastings, a respected Oxford County attorney, announced today his candidacy for the Republican nomination for County Attorney in the June Primaries. He is a member of the Oxford County Bar Association and admitted to practice before the courts in Maine and New Hampshire. Mr. Hastings graduated from Fryeburg Academy and Bowdoin College. He attended Boston University School of Law where he was elected to its Law Review and graduated with honors. He later studied at New York University in its graduate school of business before returning to Fryeburg.

Mr. Hastings is married to the former Anne A. Amiraunt of Bath. They have four children:

FORMER STATE REP. TO BE CANDIDATE FOR STATE SENATE

Former Rep. Peter D. Matheson, Mexico, has affirmed that he will be a candidate in the June primaries for one of the State Senate seats in Oxford County. A Republican, he served in the 100th Legislature (1961-62) representing the Mexico-Dixfield District. He was appointed to membership on the Advisory Committee to assist the House leadership in formulating its plans to expedite legislation. He was assigned to membership on the Natural Resources Committee.

His efforts in behalf of the people whom he represented and his ability to get things done has earned him their confidence and respect. He stood firm in all matters concerning his District, consistent with the best interests of the State.

Active in civic affairs in his community, he is a director of the Rumford Community Hospital and a member of its Executive Board, a member of the Maine Good Roads Association and Northeastern Oxford Fish and Game Protective Association, and a member of the Mexico Planning Board since its inception. He has served on the Mexico School Board for several years and as a trustee of the Mexico Water District. He was active in forming the Mexico Sewer District and was chairman of a committee charged with the responsibility of drafting its charter. Its officers are now working on preliminary plans to cope with the problem of pollution in the Androscoggin River.

Mr. and Mrs. Matheson have one daughter (Sally), Mrs. J. Robert Martin, West Acton, Mass.

ed as chairman of the Fryeburg Republican Finance Drive for 1962 and 1963.

With the adoption of the new District Court system, Mr. Hastings stated that the ablest are needed to represent the people in their court system. As the county attorney represents the people of Oxford County in their criminal courts, Mr. Hastings believes the voters should nominate their most capable candidate.

Peter Hastings participates in many activities as president of the Fryeburg Academy Alumni Association, secretary of the Fryeburg Lovell Kiwanis Club and secretary-director of the Fryeburg Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Hastings is a committee-man for the Fryeburg Boy Scout Troop and has served

Fire Station Study Com. Reports

The fire station study committee plans to present sketches and cost data to the budget committee on Wed. Jan. 29. The committee began last spring with an investigation of the present facilities and continued with a study of possible locations for a new fire station. Three sites for a fire station were considered. The three locations were the present location, the plot beside the town garage on Cross Street and the Gould Academy garages on Spring Street.

The Gould Academy garages had several disadvantages and this location was eliminated. The biggest disadvantages are the very narrow streets that a fire truck must take to get to a wide street, the large number of children on these streets on their way to and from school, and the large cost of remodeling the building. Of course Mason Street will be reconstructed next summer but this location still seems undesirable.

The location next to the town garage has several advantages and disadvantages. The Cross Street location would allow a quick start to East or West Bethel or Mayville but it might take a little longer for the firemen to answer the original call and get to the station. Very little excavation or fill would be required and a six inch water main runs along Cross Street that would be adequate for a sprinkler system.

The other location considered was the lot where the present fire station is located. The present fire station and rents could be taken down and leave the community room standing. This seems undesirable in that the tall wooden structure would be a fire hazard to the new building. It was also agreed that the remaining structure could not be fixed up to look presentable. The committee therefore recommends that, if the new fire station is built on the lot of the present fire station, all of the present building should be removed. Although the community room is used a lot during the winter months, it is the opinion of the committee that there are other buildings available to accommodate these functions.

The committee will recommend a building that will just house the fire department. The capital reserve account was started to build a fire station. continued on Page Eight

D. E. D. Commissioner to Speak at Annual B. A. D. C. Meeting

All residents of the Bethel Area will be interested to learn that Maine's new Commissioner of Economic Development has accepted an invitation to speak at the annual meeting of the Bethel Area Development Corporation to be held at the Sudbury Inn on February 11, according to an announcement made today by Dr. John W. Trinward, President of the area development group.

Standish K. Bachman, who came to Maine last October to fill the office vacated by Comm. Lloyd K. Allen is a former resident of Westport, Conn., and a long-time summer visitor to the Pine Tree State and, in particular, to Oxford County where his maternal grandmother has maintained a summer home on Kezar Lake for many years. His advertising and promotional experience was gained through nearly twenty years of executive connections with such publications as Look Magazine, the American Home Magazine, and Redbook Magazine. He was educated in the public schools of Maplewood, N. J., Brown University at Providence, R. I., and the New York University School of Commerce and Accounting where he majored in business administration, sales management and marketing.

Mr. Bachman is married and the father of four children. Two of his daughters attend Westbrook Junior College in Portland, another daughter is in high school, and a son, Standish, Jr., is currently serving in the U. S. Navy. Mr. Bachman, himself, was an Ensign in the Navy during World War II. When he was sworn into office by Governor John H. Reed in October, he termed his appointment as D.E.D. Commissioner "the culmination of a love affair with the State of Maine since I was a youngster."

In announcing plans for the B. A. D. C. meeting, Dr. Trinward stated that, since taking office, Mr. Bachman has found it necessary to decline dozens of invitations to speak at public gatherings, and that, in his opinion, the Bethel Area should feel highly honored at his willingness to make an appearance here so early in his administration. For this reason, Dr. Trinward added, the entire session will be open to the public, regardless of B. A. D. C. membership, and it is hoped that all business and professional people in the area will make a special effort to attend.

The program will start with a dinner at 6:30 p. m. in the banquet room at the Sudbury Inn; and, out of respect to the guest of honor, the annual business meeting of the Corporation will not be held until after the speaking program.

The Girl Scout Cookie Sale will be held in March or April.

Crippled Boy Wins Sports Letters With Assist from March of Dimes

A boy who can scarcely walk because of arthritis wins a letter in athletics.

Impossible, you say. Not if the lad has the grit of Tim Ewald.

Even though this 17-year-old from Minneapolis can barely "limp" along with the help of a cane, he wears the monogram of Golden Valley High School in both football and track. Now is all this athletic activity possible when it takes this likable youngster as much as 15 minutes merely to tie his shoelaces?

You must look back seven years to find the answer. As the second child of five sons, Tim at the age of 10 could entrance all his brothers and even his parents, Graydon and Diane Ewald.

At touch football, no one could lay a hand on him. Tim dreamed of a high school and college career in football and track.

Then, at the age of 10, came disaster. One night the boy was struck by the "infernal" severe pain of rheumatoid arthritis throughout his body. His temperature soared. For long months he had to be hospitalized in body casts and treated with cortisone.

Added by March of Dimes

Now, after seven years of the disease, Tim is slowly regaining some mobility—thanks in great part to physical therapy given him at the March of Dimes Arthritis Treatment Center in the University of Minnesota Medical School. This treatment is conventionally repeated at home.

Much as the boy yearned to play, such strenuous sports as football and track were not for him. It was all he could do just to hobble from class to class. But in his freshman year at high school he resolved to be as close to sports as his crippled condition permitted.

Tim gave a private vow that he would become a team manager.

He made it in his freshman year as manager of the football squad. He made it again in his sophomore year. Last year, his third, he managed the track team. He won his letters in two sports.

To continue working in the field of sports, even though he can't join actively because of crippling rheumatoid arthritis. Tim Ewald, 17, hopes to become a sports cartoonist. Here he outlines caricature of a sports personality. His doctors at March of Dimes Arthritis Center say this is good therapy for his hands and wrists.

Tim won't talk much about what his duties are. He's an excessively modest youngster but, even if it does embarrass the boy, his father says:

"I looked into this with some care because it would be dangerous for Tim to overdo. I found out that these manager-ship aren't snap jobs given by the players to a classmate they feel sorry for. The work is tough—Tim goes along in the team bus to games all around the state, he checks equipment and keeps the players' records, he's a timekeeper, and so on. But he throws on it—and it's far better therapy than gnawing his nails because of no contact with sports."

Even with his heavy schedule of classes, homework, team management, home exercises and weekly visits to the March of Dimes Arthritis Treatment Center, Tim finds time to draw.

chiefly cartoons and caricatures for which he seems to have promising talent. He thinks that someday he might like to be a sports cartoonist.

Faces Surgery

Will he walk again normally? It's quite possible. This year, after graduation from high school, he may undergo hip surgery. Dr. Keith N. Drummond, assistant director of the March of Dimes center, explains that Tim's hips are now locked in a bent position caused by contraction of the tendons and muscles and by inflammation of the hip joints. Under favorable circumstances, surgery could release and lengthen these shortened tissues.

Whether crippled for life or on his feet again, which now seems likely, Tim is determined to continue working actively in sports. That's about all he'll say. But you know that this quiet and resolute youngster means it.
